ALL THAT WAS MORTAL OF THE LATE COLONEL W. W. GORDON.

Funeral Services at St. Paul's, Interment at Hollywood-Meeting of the Bar Association-Touching Remarks.

All that was mortal of the late Colonel W. W. Gordon was tenderly laid to rest in the shades of Hollywood yesterday.

At 12 o'clock a large congregation assembled at St. Paul's church to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory.

The impressive ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Hartley Carmichael, assisted by Rev. J. B. Newton and Rev. Richard

In the gathering were a large number of distinguished lawyers, some of whom had come a long distance for the pur-pose of being present and taking part in pose of being present and taking part in the sad ceremontal. Among these wery General W. H. Payne of Warrenton, Ma-jor Marshall Hanger of Staunton, S. V. Southall of Charlottesville, Alexander Hamilton of Petersburg, Alexander F. Matthews of Lewisburg, W. Va., and Major John W. Johnson of Birmingham, Ala.

The meeting of the Bench and Bar called to take action in memory of Colonel Gordon was held at the court of appeals at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and was largely attended by members of the profession from the city and State.

Mr. James Caskle called the meeting to order and requested Judge L. L. Lewis to preside. Mr. F. H. McGuire was asked to act as secretary. After a few touching words from Judge Lewis, in which he stated the occasion for the meeting, Judge George L. Christian moved the appointment of a committee of thirteen, of which Judge B. R. Wellford, Jr., should be chairman. The committee was appointed as follows: Judge B. R. Wellford, Jr., Judge William W. Crump, Judge Robert A. Richardson, Judge George L. Christian, Mr. Frank W. Christian, Mr. Aubin L. Berten R. Berten R Boulware, Captain Richard G. Pegram, Mr. S. V. Southall, Mr. Alexander Hamilton, Mr. Hill Carter, Mr. Alexander F. Mathews, W. Va.; General W. H. Payne, Mr. Marshall Hanger.

Mr. Marshall Hanger.

The committee retired and after a time brought in the resolutions, extracts of which are printed below. They were elowhich are printed below. They were eloquently presented by Judge Wellford and beautifully seconded by Judge W. W. Crump and Judge B. W. Lacy, The remarks of Judge B. W. Lacy, whose relations with Colonel Gordon had long been very close and intimate, were peculiarly tender and affectionate. He

The blow so long dreaded has fallen upon us; the noblest gentleman, the brightest ornament to Virginia's bar, is

It is no disparagement to say that the deceased was the first in the record of the bright names that illustrate and adorn the honor and fame of our profession. It was by common consent that Colonel Gordon was always named as the brightest, the foremost lawyer of our times. I once lard one of our most distinguished lawyers and an honored citizen say: "Colonel Gordon is the only man ever saw that I thought had a genius for law." From the very morning of his professional career he was always named as the brightest, the ablest mind among us, and yet no man ever said this without adding that his heart was larger than his head. His life exemplified the brightest idea we could form of nobility of soul, as well as of the grandeur of the human intel-trod only the purest path of virtue. There was no name which challenged more admiration for splendid talents, and yet none failed to see that goodness and true nobility of soul were his crowning glory. In his sad death I have lost my best friend, and this, I have no doubt, is the feeling of most of us. There is nothing I would not have done for him within my power. I shall always remember him gratefully for a thousand kind deeds. I never asked him for aid in matters of doubt and difficulty but it was readily and kindly given, and in a long friend-ship, beginning in my youth, I can truly say I never received from him an unking word, and I am sure that he never held toward me an unkind thought. In an hour like this what must be the sorrow of the loved ones at home of such a man. Into their sacred grief I would not intrude, but my deepest sympathy is theirs. I trust they may find comfort in the endearing recollections which cluster around the place made vacant by the cruel hand of the dread destroyer. For ourselves, we will cherish his memory and bear in mind that we are nearing the end which comes to all, and that one by one as the years pass we will fall out of life, and our opportunities for doing good or doing evil will be ended, and while we yet mourn for him a summons awaits us which we must obey. We will erect tablets to his memory in our hearts, tell his good deeds, recount his noble traits of character and wonderful powers of mind; but if every kind word, good deed and generous action of his in life could be builded into a conumental pile upon his silent grave he would sleep be neath a proud mausoleum indeed.

Always towering in intellect, he yet

The resolutions which were of a pecu-liarly appropriate character were unaniously adopted. The preamble was as

In the Providence of Almighty God death has again invaded our ranks, and we meet under the shadow of a great sorrow. One of the more conspicuous and beloved of our number has been called away, and we who survive him yet awhile, gather here with a mour realization of personal and public loss Then followed a complete sketch of his life and career, which paid the highest tributes to his genius and talents as a lawyer. After citing his successes before the bar, come the following words: While they recall with honest pride the attainments and success in the foremost ranks of the profession, there is a paramount feeling at this hour of a deeper and tender love, which words are inadequate to express. We forbear the effort and go hence with saddened hearts to gather around his open grave as a mourning brotherhood to participate in the last offices of respect and apprecia-

Bank of Virginia.

The petition, which was referred to the Finance Committee, reads as follows "Your petitioners, who represent the several banks in this city, which own the real estate in which their business is transacted, respectfully represent to you that in the assessment of taxes under the ceditaryees of your honorable, bodies as ordinances of your honorable bodies as now in force, said banks are not only taxed on the real estate severally owned by them, and in which they transact their business, as aforesaid, but they are also taxed on the market value of their several shares of capital stock in ascertain-ing which market value the value of their real estate is included. Your petitioners therefore represent that this method really inflicts on said banks a double taxation, to the extent of the value of their real estate, as aforesaid, and they re-spectfully and earnestly petition that said ordinance may be so changed as to re-lieve the banks of this injustice and hard-

LARGE AUCTION SALE OF HORSES AND MULES AT

"THE GREAT SOUTHERN BAZAAR," 1806, 1808, 1810 and 1812 E. Franklin St.

We will offer on the days above mentioned EIGHTY-FIVE HEAD of HORSES and MULES, which include all grades, coachers, saddlers, general purpose, draft and common workers. Have received a fresh load from Mr. Robert T. Green, of Garden Grove, is., among which are some of the best saddlers ever ridden; also some very fast trotters. Lesides this consignment, we have another from Mr. Marsh, of Galesburg, Ill., in which can be found all grades of horses and mules, from the fancy roadster to the common work horse, although the greater part refamily broke.

We wish to call special attention to a VERY FINE BAY TEAM that have been in our barns a little over a week. This team is very stylish, standing 15 hands high, heads always up, and a superb movement hard to match.

We also have a VERY FINE BROWN HORSE, seven years old, with a pacing gait estimated at 2:40. This animal is well bred, and with a little care and attention could be made to go in very fast time

We have several others worthy of special mention, and will take pleasure in showing the public these, and also the remainder of our stock.

Our barns are always open to the inspection of the public, and we sell privately at all times.
